Education on a Global Stage

Engage with one of the largest global enterprise and entrepreneurship education audiences - exhibit at IIEC2018

The International Entrepreneurship Educators Conference, organised by Enterprise Educators UK (EEUK), has been providing an interactive forum for enterprise and entrepreneurship educators to share experiences and engage with others for over a decade. The conference consistently attracts around 250 delegates including senior decision makers from higher and further education, enterprise and entrepreneurship educators and practitioners, careers and employability advisers, entrepreneurs, local and national government representatives and incubation centre managers.

Lydia Wakefield, Education and Training Manager at IPSE and regular IIEC exhibitor said:

“Exhibiting at IIEC has been hugely valuable in building our relationships with universities dedicated to enterprise and entrepreneurship education. The attendees are very engaged and keen to learn and explore new opportunities. We are delighted to have met brilliant university partners at IIEC and continue to have great relationships with those we have met.”

The 2018 venue will be the Rose Bowl, Leeds Beckett University, LS1 3HB (Leeds city centre). The conference format includes plenty of networking time and breakout sessions when delegates have the opportunity to visit exhibitor stands located close to the refreshments.
